OTEX CLEANING SYSTEM KILLS 97% OF SUPERBUGS

The OTEX system has been launched in light of new evidence suggesting that critical laundry health guidelines recommending high temperature washes to achieve thermal disinfection are often ignored. Even when high temperatures are used, scientific tests have shown that they often do not kill all superbugs. The OTEX system injects ozone into the wash process and uses mostly cold water, destroys the bug Clostridium difficile and other superbugs.

We offer a full installation service for all cubical curtains and will re-fit clean and repair curtains to minimise disruption. Please contact us for the various options.

To reduce the spread of HAIs, regular effective cleaning of cubicle curtains is essential within the healthcare industry.

Many hospitals openly admit that they have no specific policy and adopt a 'fire-fight' approach — changing curtains from one infection outbreak to the next.

Grosvenor contracts have been serving the healthcare industry for nearly 10 years and have developed programmes and audit systems to ensure that all cubicle curtains and window fitments are removed for professional cleaning 4x a year, reaching the goals of the very best NHS policy on curtain cleaning.

We will design a solution tailor-made to your needs, taking hygiene to a higher level through innovation and technology with minimum disruption and maximum efficiency.

Our computerised Audit System records and tracks each item we clean and maintain to ensure that all cubicle curtains and window fitments are removed for professional cleaning 4x a year.

COMPUTERISED AUDIT SYSTEM

Clean hospitals are essential for public confidence & infection control. Patients deserve no less than top class cleanliness in every area of every hospital.
